Fullstack Developer

As a frontend developer who later expanded into full-stack development, I'm Great Ogbuagu, proudly representing Nigeria. My journey began with mastering HTML, CSS, React JS, and Next JS, eventually transitioning into a fullstack role.

With over two years of experience and six completed freelance projects under my belt, I specialize in crafting modern, responsive websites that leave a lasting impression. My proficiency extends to frameworks like Tailwind CSS, motion design with Framer Motion, and version control with Git.

In addition to frontend technologies, I possess expertise in backend development with skills including Mongo DB, Restful Crud API Integration, Node JS, and Express. These allow me to create robust and efficient backend systems to complement my frontend work.

My dedication to staying ahead of the curve in web development trends ensures that my work remains innovative and user-centric. With a passion for design and a commitment to excellence, I take great pride in delivering engaging web experiences for users.
